

BRIDGING WORLDS, BUILDING COMMUNITIES

In Semester 2, LQC proudly delivered a diverse range of activities and events aimed at encouraging students to go beyond academic learning and engage meaningfully with both local and global communities. Our cherished goal has been to empower students to apply their knowledge and skills in ways that contribute positively to the world and foster mutual growth.

While not everyone is a natural creator, we firmly believe that collaborative efforts can spark extraordinary change. This semester, we witnessed immense potential in our students as they embraced service-learning opportunities overseas, volunteered in experiential learning opportunities, and connected with the surrounding communities.

Local Community Initiatives: Cultivating Compassion Through Service

This semester, a series of locally rooted projects were designed to nurture students' compassion and commitment to serving their community. By combining centre-led initiatives with student-driven activities, we positioned these experiences as invaluable opportunities for personal growth.

Beyond academic learning, students discovered unexpected rewards, from the joy of collaboration to profound lessons in empathy, through warm, hands-on engagements with others.

Our programmes facilitated meaningful interactions with diverse groups, including elders, ethnic minorities, individuals managing chronic illnesses, underprivileged children, and their families. These encounters created unforgettable memories for everyone involved; whether giving or receiving, all emerged as beneficiaries of shared humanity and mutual understanding.

Global Learning Journeys : Expanding Horizons

Complementing our local efforts, students embarked on four overseas trips and six experiential learning journeys within mainland China. These excursions enriched their education far beyond textbooks, offering immersive themes such as:

- Adventure and exploration (building resilience and teamwork),
- Cultural exchange (fostering global citizenship),
- Community development (applying academic knowledge to real-world challenges),
- Volunteer service (deepening social responsibility),
- Understanding national heritage (connecting with their home country's history and identity).

From volunteering in rural villages to engaging with global cultural trends, students gained firsthand insights into how classroom theories intersect with societal needs. These experiences not only broadened their perspectives but also equipped them with the adaptability and cultural sensitivity essential for future-shaping leaders.
